

EXAM DAY COMMAND SHEET

Exam Day Command Sheet

BEFORE THE EXAM

- ☐ Admit card, photo ID, photos as the admit card specifies
- ☐ Wake at mock-day time · familiar breakfast · water
- ☐ Leave with a margin; follow the reporting time on the admit card
- ☐ Seated: breathe 4 in · 6 out, five times

FIRST 5 MINUTES

1. Settle: three slow breaths, pen in hand.
2. Rough sheet: P · C · M skip columns + checkpoint times.
3. Memory dump: my 3–5 forgotten formulas.
4. Open my first subject, start Round 1.

MY ORDER & CHECKPOINTS

Order	Subject	Done by (9:00 shift)	(15:00 shift)
1		9:45	15:45
2		10:45	16:45
3		11:40	17:40
R3	all subjects	11:50 → verify	17:50 → verify

THE ROUNDS

R1 · sure marks: the method is visible in about 20 s and it takes ≤ 2 min. Otherwise mark S and move on.

R2 · medium: at most 3 minutes each, then leave it.

R3 · last 20 min: questions with partial progress; MCQ only with 2 options eliminated.

THE RULES

- Underline the asked quantity and any NOT / INCORRECT / EXCEPT.
- Read the last line again before marking an answer.
- NV: enter only a solved answer. Check value, sign and rounding.
- Never chase a lost question: 4 marks isn't worth 20 minutes.
- Change an answer only for a specific error you've found.

LAST 20 MIN → no new long questions · check every NV entry · check the palette.

LAST 10 MIN → verification only · all responses saved.

PANIC RESET (60 s)

Pen down → 5 slow breaths → read only the last line of the next question → do the next easy question. A hard paper is hard for the whole shift. Normalisation handles it.

MISTAKE ALERT My personal top 3 traps (from the Mistake Book)

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____